James Michael Hall, also known as "Jimmy," was an amazing young man. He was born on July 18, 1982, at St Joseph's Hospital in Denver, Colo., to Michael and Debbie Hall. He was suddenly and tragically taken from us on Sept. 2 in an auto accident. James was on his way home to his wife of seven years, Sharice; and his two children, Michael Deane, 7, and Abbygail Jane, 3.

James Michael Hall

James comes from a close family. He grew up in Denver and then moved to Montrose at age 13. While in Montrose, he lived with his mother,

Debbie; stepfather, Randy; sister, Falyn; brother, Shane; and sister, Kelsie. James decided to move back to Denver and finish high school in Northglenn, where he resided with his Uncle Steve and his cousins Casey and Alfred. During the summers, he stayed with his father Mike, stepmother Cheryl and sisters Dannyelle and Alex in Phoenix, Ariz., and later in South Africa.

Ever since he could walk, he loved motorcycles. When James was only 1, he could be heard saying, "Honda yuck." His father, Michael spent many days teaching him how to work on bikes and how to ride. They built his first motorcycle together when he was 16. James' father passed away in 2002. Jimmy is now next to his father, working and riding just like they used to.

James and Sharice married on May 20, 2005, and had two wonderful children. James spent time coaching his son Michael's football team and helping his daughter Abby with cheerleading. He was very proud of their accomplishments! He and Sharice enjoyed wrestling with the kids (Michael and Abby the winners), going on camping trips, taking trips to Vegas, and spending time with their many friends and her brother, Richard. But most important, they enjoyed cuddling on the couch.

A memorial service was held Sunday, Sept. 9 at Rundus Funeral Home in Broomfield, Colo.
