

1/16/1908

PIONEER RESIDENT DIES

Just as we go to press this morning we learn of the death of J.R. Harper, which occurred at his home in this city at 9 o'clock last night. Mr. Harper had been quite low for several days and his death had been hourly expected. Mrs. Harper has the sympathy of everyone in her bereavement.

Obituary will be published next week.

1/24/1908

OBITUARY

The funeral of J.R. Harper, who passed away on Thursday evening of last week, mention of whose death was made in these columns last week, occurred on Saturday afternoon, being held from the Methodist church. The services were conducted by the resident pastor, who spoke of the upright life and manly character of the deceased. Interment was made in the Wheatland cemetery.

Mr. Harper was born in Ohio 72 years ago. He moved to Wyoming in the early days and resided on a ranch on Sand creek until five or six years ago, when he moved to Wheatland. He is survived by a widow who has the sympathy of everyone in her bereavement.