

HILLS, EDITH CROCKETT
January 22, 1879-July 11, 1954

A long illness ended in the death here Sunday of Edith C. Hills, the wife of Cyrus W. Hills, Wheatland business man. Surviving in addition to her husband, is a daughter, Freda Hills, also of Wheatland.

Born in Rockland, Maine, January 22, 1879, she was the daughter of Franklin and Cora Sawyer Crockett, and was seventy-five years of age at the time of her death. She was a member of the Methodist church. The Hills family came to Wheatland in 1939, having lived in Casper and Cheyenne, previously, for ten years each.

The Rev. J.B. Milstead officiated at the funeral services which were held Tuesday morning at 10:30 at the Schrader chapel. Burial was in the Wheatland cemetery. Pallbearers were Ward Goodrich, Robert Straw, M.R. Foe, Bruce Jones of Laramie, Bernard Bowen and Preston Davis.
