

SCHWATSKE, LAURETTA M. BAKER

March 22, 1891-April 14, 1921

Lauretta M. Baker Schwatske was born Mar. 22nd, 1891, on a ranch near Laramie, Wyo, and died April 14, 1921. She was a daughter of R.P. Baker, formerly a well known ranchman of Albany county, now residing on a farm near Wheatland.

The deceased had been in poor health for several years and came for a short visit with her folks, when she was taken ill and passed away suddenly.

She was educated in the Laramie public schools. Later studying nursing in Denver and graduating from the State Hospital in Rock Springs.

She was married to F.C. Schwatske of Horse Creek, Wyo., October 11, 1913, and lived there for the first few years of her married life, later moving to Grant, Wyo., of which place she was postmistress about one year. Because of ill health, she spent most of this winter in Wheatland, Wyo.

Her wish to be laid away in a nurse's uniform and to us her place of burial was carried out in it's entirety.

She was of a genial nature and kind to everyone and dearly beloved by all who knew her.

She leaves a husband, a father and three sisters to mourn her death.
